

ABSTRACT

Apparatus for raking berries, particularly blueberries. The apparatus has a frame supported on wheels, a rake head, a berry conveyor, support for a berry box, and a side support for stacking additional empty berry boxes. The motor-driven apparatus provides independent operation of ground travel and berry collecting operation. The rakes maintain a constant orientation relative to the vertical throughout the rotation of the rake head.